RULES FOR VOLLEYBALL

- The game

Two teams of six players compete on a court divided by a net. The objective is to score points by grounding the ball on the opponent's court or capitalizing on faults.

The game begins with a serve from behind the playing area, over the net to the opponent's side.

- Ball contact

Each team can touch the ball up to three times after it's served before sending it back over the net. A block does not count as a touch. The ball must not hit the floor on your side of the court. Players can use any part of their body to contact the ball, using techniques such as bumping, setting, or spiking.

- Scoring

A match typically consists of three or five sets. To win a set, a team must reach 25 points with at least a two-point lead. If a fifth set is played, the target score is 15 points with a two-point advantage. The team that wins the required number of sets wins the match. But the number of points for a set or number of sets will be decided as per the number of team entries for the tournament.

- Faults and violations

Common faults include touching the net (with some exceptions), reaching over the net illegally, stepping over the centerline, blocking or attacking the serve, illegal substitutions, and illegally contacting the ball (scooping, holding, lifting, or pushing). A double fault occurs when both teams commit fouls simultaneously, resulting in a replay.

- Time-outs and substitutions

Teams are allowed two 30-second time-outs per set, requested by the captain or coach. Each team can make up to 12 substitutions per set, with starting players allowed to re-enter the game in their original position.
